When some one asked Tom Reed the other day to make a speech for McKinley his reply was "I am not a criminal lawyer."

If silence is golden then T. B. Reed can show a bigger nugget than any man on the Republican side in this campaign.

According to the last census Porto Rico has a population of 953,243, but they don't know yet whether they are Americans or simply plain Porto Ricans.

An exchange says Alvord, who got away with $700,000 of that New York bank's money, had no conscience and wasn't a bit sorry. Yes he was sorry—sorry he was caught.

Several delegations have recently waited on ex-President Harrison to ask him to make just one speech for McKinley, but he is so busy that he hasn't time to make just one little speech.

A thoughtful California man when dying left a fund of $50 "for any widows who might appear to put in claims! A man who couldn't leave more than $50 probably didn't leave many widows.

No wonder the Republican bosses don't want Bryan elected, for aside from the soft snaps they now have on patronage, etc., he will have the key to the secret archives, and there may be trouble in that for somebody.

Vineland, N. J., is proud of a wonderful baby girl, which is as large around as she is tall. At birth she weighed 10½ pounds, and now at seventeen weeks old she weighs fifty pounds and is growing right along, and with all that she is a good chap and not a hard kicker.

The possibility of Roosevelt becoming President in the event of the death or disability of Mr. McKinley will prevent many thoughtful Republicans from voting the Republican ticket. If they could scratch the Rough Rider and pyrotechnic performer, and vote for McKinley alone they would be out of the dilemma and feel easy; but they can't do that.

The Concord Tribune ventures the assertion that "the Hon. Oliver H. Dockery, Republican candidate for Congress in the Sixth district, has had his name printed on more election tickets with less to show for it than any man in the United states." That's so; but he likes to see his name on election tickets. He thinks it makes people think he isn't dead, and he doesn't like to realize that he is.

Steamer Hurt's New Boiler.

The old boiler of the steamer A. P. Hurt, which was recently condemned by the U. S. inspector, was taken out yesterday and placed on the wharf of the Cape Fear River Transportation Company. Capt. W. A. Robeson, master of the steamer, who has recently returned from a trip North to purchase a new boiler, found material so scarce that the factories would not guarantee shipment within six months. He returned via Savannah and there procured the boiler from the sunken steamer Katie, which the company lost in Savannah river about three years ago. It has already been shipped and is daily expected, so that the Hurt will soon be on her regular schedule again. Capt. Robeson is here, in person superintending the exchange.

THE FEDERAL COURT

Judge Purnell Cleared the Docket and Reached Adjournment Yesterday Afternoon.

YORK GOES TO FAYETTEVILLE

He Will Be Taken to Jail There This Morning—Witness Sent to Jail for Being Intoxicated in Court—Notes of the Session.

The Federal Court finished up the business of the term at 12.45 o'clock yesterday afternoon and Judge Purnell left on the 3.05 S. A. L. train for his home at Raleigh. Most of the other court officers left last evening and the remaining number, including defendants, witnesses and attorneys, will leave to-day.

The term has been remarkable for the absence of important cases on the docket and dispatch with which those that were for trial were dispensed with.

The following proceedings appear from the Clerk's record yesterday:

Millard McKay, Bladen county; breaking into distillery warehouse and retailing; not guilty.

James Green, Richmond county; retailing, plead guilty and prayed for judgment; continued, defendant to give bond to next term.

James Green and W. A. McDonald, Richmond county; sci fa, forfeited recognizance; sci fa dismissed.

James Bostick, Richmond county; retailing; plead not guilty; verdict not guilty.

J. Wesley Hodges, Richmond county; retailing; plead not guilty; verdict guilty and sentenced to one year in penitentiary.

Drewry Walters, Richmond county; retailing; plead not guilty; verdict guilty and judgment sixty days in jail and $100 fine and costs.

T. L. Rosser, of Elizabethtown and a witness in the case against Millard McKay, was committed to the New Hanover county jail for twenty days for being intoxicated in court.

The grand jury returned a true bill against Thomas Sykes, of New Hanover, for retailing without license; continued on account of sickness of defendant.

The grand jury and petit jurors were discharged for the term.

All the cases on the civil docket were continued as follows: Thomas A. McIntyre vs. G. W. Kidder; Rountree & Co. vs. Harry Skinner; State of North Carolina on petition of Railroad Commision vs. the Western Union Telegraph Company; Maria R. Lewis vs. the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society of New York; E. J. Powers vs. S. Munn, Son & Co., of New York; also those on the appearance docket as follows: Clarence L Parker vs. the Clarendon Water Works Company, (two cases), and Thompson & Co., and A. C. Thompson vs. the Atlantic National Bank, of Wilmington.

The cases of E. J. Powers vs. Munn & Co. and Maria R. Lewis vs. the Life Assurance Society were continued by consent.

York Will be Transferred.

Since the decision to transfer the case of J. L. York to the Federal Court at Raleigh and the expressed desire of the prisoner to be transferred from the New Hanover jail on account of his health, there has been much speculation as to what would ultimately be done in the matter. It was at first thought by the District Attorney that it would be best to take him to Raleigh, but there were others who wanted to take him back to the jail in Fayetteville as York desired, among them being Deputy Marshal H. B. Everett. The officer telegraphed to Judge Purnell at Lumberton in the afternoon yesterday and received a reply ordering the clerk of the court to give him a commitment to the Fayetteville jail, which was done. Deputy Marshal Everett will leave with his prisoner this morning.

It is also claimed that in a few days —very probably to-day—York will give the required bond of $1,500 and be liberated.

DEATH OF MRS. SARAH E. COX.

Her Demise Occurred Yesterday Morning at the Home of Her Daughter.

The STAR regrets to announce the death of Mrs. Sarah E. Cox, which occurred yesterday morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. P. C. Morton, No. 114 South Third street. She was over 80 years of age, and had been in declining health for the past six months, but the end came suddenly at last, and was a shock to her family.

Though not long a resident of Wilmington, she had made a number of friends, who admired her for her strong, pure Christian character. Their interest and affection for her, were attested by the number, who quickly gathered, after the sad tidings were known, offering lovely flowers and words of sympathy.

She leaves two devoted daughters, Mrs. A. C. Ivey, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. P. C. Morton, of this city.

After brief services at the residence, conducted by Revs. Dr. Paxton, A. D. McClure, and P. C. Morton, the remains were taken to Lexington, Ga., accompanied by her grandsons, Paul C. Morton, Jr., and S. C. Morton.

The following were the pall bearers from the residence to the S. A. L. station: Messrs. R. W. Hicks, E. Foster, W. James, W. S. Bernard, and James Sinclair.

Foot Ball Game.

The STAR'S special correspondent in West Raleigh, telegraphing last night, says that the score in the foot ball game between the A. & M. and Guilford College there yesterday resulted in a victory for the team of the last named institution by a score of 11 to 5, "which Guilford scored on "flukes.'"

GENERAL CARR COMING.

Will Arrive in Wilmington from Warsaw This Afternoon and Will Spend Sunday Here.

The STAR learns from an authoritative source that General Carr, candidate for the United States Senate, will reach Wilmington this afternoon on the 6 o'clock train on the W. & W. Railroad, coming from Warsaw where he speaks to-day. General Carr will stop at The Orton where he will be glad to meet those who may call on him from 8 to 11 o'clock. He will not make a public address, so the STAR is informed, inasmuch as his opponent, Mr. Simmons, in his address delivered here on Thursday night, confined himself exclusively to national issues and made no public allusion to his candidacy. General Carr and his friends, therefore, do not think that it will be proper for him to make a public address to the people here and therefore he will not do so.

He will remain in Wilmington over Sunday to rest, leaving here at 7 o'clock that evening for Nashville, where he has an appointment to speak on Monday.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The Una Clayton Company Playing to Large and Enthusiastic Audiences.

The Una Clayton Company appeared before another large audience last night and successfully presented a delightful comedy-drama entitled, "A Little Pauper." Each member of the company displayed great skill in his or her part, and the audience was very liberal in its applause.

A matinee will be given at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and a lady's gold watch will be given away to the person who guesses nearest the hour at which the watch stopped. The admission will be 10 and 20 cents. The bill for the matinee will be "A Sultan's Daughter," which was so successfully presented by the company Wednesday night. The bill for the evening performance will be "Fanchette."

This company has made a most decided hit with the theatre-goers of Wilmington and every member has established his or herself as a favorite. This is undoubtedly the most successful engagement ever played by a popular-priced company in this city, and it is just that it should be so, for it is an undisputed fact that it is the best repertoire company that has ever played here, the plays presented being full of interest, with good dramatic and comedy situations, fine specialties and elegant scenery.

A return of this popular organization will be eagerly awaited.

MR. BELLAMY'S CANVASS.

Back from a Successful Campaigning Tour Through the Shoestring District.

Hon. John D. Bellamy arrived yesterday at noon from a two week's tour of campaigning in the upper counties of the "Shoe String District." He expresses himself as very much gratified at the result of his efforts and prospects for Democratic success next Tuesday. He has made one speech and sometimes two every day, Sundays excepted, since he left and he has filled every appointment and made good the promise to the convention which nominated him that he would repeat the wonderful campaign of 1898, which everybody knows made "Bellamy" a household word in every nook and corner of the district.

In several counties he made additional appointments to speak and his personal canvass, from reports, was worth much to the ticket. He spoke Thursday at Pineville and Thursday night at Matthews to large crowds composed of both gentlemen and ladies. His appointment at Hamlet for to-day has been cancelled and though it is close to the "enemy's country," he does not fear the result. Next week he closes his campaign speaking at Rockingham Monday—the day before election.

COLUMBIA OPERA COMPANY

Will Open a Week's Engagement Here on Monday—A Musical Event.

The Columbia Comic Opera Company at the Opera House on Monday, Nov. 5th, should attract the attention of the musical public. It is an organization that comes highly recommended as being all that it advertises. The operas that they will present during their engagement in this city are all tuneful and fascinating, abounding in beautiful choruses, well-known ballads and strong ensembles. Good music, attractive stage pictures, magnificent costumes and capable artists form an entertainment that caters to all, and such the Columbia company claims to give. Miss Carlotta Gilman, the well-known prima donna, and Mr. Chas. N. Holmes, the popular tenor, are with this organization. Mr. Claude Amsden, who has a wide reputation as an operatic comedian, will take care of the comedy parts. For their first performance in this city they will present the charming light opera "Girofle-Girofla." The chorus with this organization is said to be powerful and well trained.

Prices, 25, 35 and 50 cents. Monday night ladies will be admitted to a reserved seat for 25 cents if purchased before 6 p. m. Seats on sale this morning.

Accidental Killing at Clinton.

Telegrams were received in Wilmington yesterday announcing the accidental killing of Mr. Howard Peterson at Clinton. He was about twenty-two years old. The only particulars stated in the telegram were that the young man was accidentally shot and died from the wounds yesterday morning.

ENJOYABLE BANQUET

Served at the Y. M. C. A. Last Night by the Woman's Auxiliary.

"YELLOWS" WAITED IN STYLE

Number of Speeches Made by Prominent Association Members--Most Successful Reception Given in the History of the Institution.

The banquet at the Young Men's Christian Association last night was a memorable occasion in the history of that great institution. It was a pronounced success and will long be remembered for the pleasures afforded.

The hosts of the evening were Association workers styling themselves the "Yellows," who lost in the recent contest for new members, and by this misfortune had to serve the banquet to the victorious "Reds," the competing team, and all other Y. M. C. A. members. A full account of the contest appeared in a recent issue of the STAR.

The preparation of the banquet and the admirable way in which it was served was due to the careful diligence of the Y. M. C. A. Woman's Auxiliary, and to them should be given the very highest praise for their noble work. On the third floor of the Association building, from one end of the hall to the other, long tables were spread with the most delicious viands. The "Yellows," fitted out in white caps and aprons, made good waiters. Fully three hundred people were present during the evening.

After the banquet had been served, Dr. W. C. Galloway, who presided, announced that an interesting programme would follow. The short talks made were full of thought and happy in the extreme. The speakers and their subjects were as follows:

"The 'Yellows' and How They Lost," by Mr. C. C. Brown, General of the "Yellows."

"The 'Reds' and How They Won," by Dr. W. C. Galloway, General of the "Reds."

"Our Prizes," by Mr. H. E. Bonitz.

"Our Ladies," by Mr. J. T. King.

"Pastors," by Rev. A. D. McClure.

"Why I Believe in the Y. M. C. A.," by Mr. Paul M. Taylor.

"Our Association," by the president, Mr. W. Latta.

"Physical Manhood," by Dr. N. M. Wetzel.

"Our Night School," by Prof. A. J. Howell.

"Business Man's Relation to the Y. M. C. A.," by Mr. B. F. Hall.

Song, "The Yellows," by the Red team.

The winners of the prizes offered by the "Reds" to the members of the team who brought in the most new members were announced by Mr. Jas. H. Taylor, Jr., as follows:

First prize, life long membership in the National Correspondence School, of Scranton, Pa., won by Mr. W. L. Latta. Score, 21 2-10.

Second prize, good fountain pen, won by Dr. W. C. Galloway. Score, 8 3-5.

Third prize, gymnasium suit, won by Mr. J. T. King. Score, 8.

Fourth prize, gold Y. M. C. A. button, won by Mr. L. T. Moore. Score 6 3-5.

Fifth prize, the bouquet, which was won by all.

The reception last night marks a most successful era in the history of the Y. M. C. A. The true worth of the institution is being demonstrated on every hand, and the older members have joined hands with the younger members in happy co operation and they are swaying a mighty influence for good throughout the city.

Dr. C. S. Blackwell pronounced the benediction upon last evening's exercises.

FIGHTING SIMMONS.

Republicans and Populists Don't Want the State Chairman to Be Senator.

MASONBORO TOWNSHIP,
New Hanover County, N. C.

MR. EDITOR:

To my utter surprise the leading Populist and Republicans of the county are taking great interest in the Senatorial contest. I find that they are making an active canvass of the county. I have met some of them personally and find that they are working for Mr. Carr. I asked one of them why they were interested in a Democratic contest and he said that they would vote for any man to beat Mr. Simmons because he was the leader of the Democratic party. Now this man refused to go the polls last August and vote for the amendment, but said he would qualify himself to vote in the Senatorial contest so as to vote against Mr. Simmons. Now I ask, as a Democrat, why the Democrats of the State are not in duty bound to support Mr. Simmons, as Col. Waddell received almost the unanimous vote of the Democrats of the city of Wilmington for Mayor because he was the leader of the city revolution in 1898.

Why should we not unanimously support Mr. Simmons, as he was the great leader of the victory achieved by the State Democracy in 1898 and also in August, 1900? What is to incite a man to work for the advancement o his fellowmen if he is to be condemned instead of encouraged for his successful leadership? Now I am satisfied that if it was left to the choice of the true Democracy of North Carolina, judging by the condition existing in my own county, Mr. Simmons would receive three-fourths of the Democratic votes of North Carolina for Senator, and this he justly deserves. He has the courage and ability of his convictions, and it will be a repudiation by the Democrats of the State, of the amendment if we do not send him to the Senate.

It D. J. FERGUS. †

Col. Waddell to Greenville.

Colonel A. M. Waddell left yesterday morning for Greenville where today he and Governor Jarvis will speak at the closing rally of the campaign in that county. Colonel Waddell will likely get back to the city tomorrow.

A NEW JERSEY MAN EXPLAINS.

Mark Hanna says there are no Trusts. Senator Depew, echoing Hanna, says there are no Trusts. Hanna and Depew, and others who take the cue from them, say there are no Trusts because there are laws against Trusts and therefore the Trusts have ceased to exist. The Sherman law, they say, squeezed the life out of the Trusts, while Attorney General Monnett, of Ohio, says that since the Sherman law was enacted in 1890, there have been but thirteen prosecutions attempted against Trusts and but three of these under the present administration. When Attorney General Griggs was asked why the Trusts were not prosecuted under that law he said they could not be reached by it. But according to Hanna and Depew the Sherman law has killed the Trusts. The reason why the Trusts cannot, as Attorney General Griggs says, be reached by the Sherman law is because they have changed their plan of organization and dropped the "trustee" out, but it is still the same vampire in another skin. It is not a trust now but what Mark Hanna calls an "aggregation of wealth," but it understands as well and is as expert at squeezing the public as any of the original boss trusts ever were. The hustlers who conceived and ran the trusts are the same kind of fellows who are running Mark Hanna's "aggregations of wealth."

Mark Hanna has found an illuminator who comes to the front to throw some light on the Trust question and show how the Trusts have been squeezed out and no longer exist. This fellow has come as a boon to the Republican organs, who are exploiting his explanations and remarks with much satisfaction to themselves. As quite natural and also appropriate this luminary is a New Jersey lawyer, who has probably made a good thing by helping on the Trust chartering business in his State, which has proved a very profitable business for New Jersey. The substance of his story as to how the Trusts have been squeezed out of existence, is thus told in an editorial in the New York Tribune:

Frank Bergen, one of New Jersey's foremost lawyers, has a penchant for getting to the bottom of things, and he has been looking up the history of the word "trust." According to Mr. Bergen, the expression came into use politically about fifteen years ago. The trust of those days was, however, he says, something different from the monster which William J. Bryan and other noted hunters are tracking today. Then it was a combination of a number of corporations engaged in the same line of business, by which they agreed to carry on their business according to the direction of a few individuals, to whom the stock of the corporation was transferred, so that they might elect the directors and define the policy of all the corporations and prevent competition among them. That kind of a trust the courts declared to be unlawful. They held that every corporation must carry on business through its own officers.

From that Mr. Bergen argues that the people by means of legislation and litigation were and still are masters of the money changers," as Bryan calls smart business men in this country." As another proof of this Mr. Bergen refers to the successful attacks of the Grangers against railroad discriminations and the stifling of competition. After a number of States had experimented with regulatory legislation Congress took hold of the problem and the Inter State Commerce law and the Sherman act were the fruits.

"Those laws," Mr. Bergen says, "were sustained by the courts, and by means of them nearly all the evils of which the Grangers complained have been exterminated. It is an interesting fact that while the Populists and Bryan Democrats have done the most shouting about the trusts, corporations, syndicates, millionaires and moneybags, the Republicans have done about all that has yet been done to restrain their unconscionable conduct."

The modern trust Mr. Bergen describes as a huge corporation, not a combination, and his view is that these trusts are "beneficial, injurious or dangerous, according to the standpoint from which you look at them." What he sees beneficial in them is that they cheapen productions, and sometimes improve the quality of manufactured goods, and often raise wages, sometimes voluntarily." He attributes much of our immense success in foreign markets to the strength and energy of these aggregations of capital. They employ men of the highest executive capacity, who manage to triumph over foreign competition while paying higher wages. The result is that wealth is pouring into this country from all points of the compass. The efforts of these vast corporations to destroy competition are, Mr. Bergen says, often heartless and sometimes wicked. That, he argues, is because corporations are made of men, and the greed and selfishness of men will exhibit themselves ever through the mask and under the forms of corporate organization. Mr. Bergen contends that trusts can be successfully dealt with only by act of Congress. Then he refers to the proposed amendment to the Constitution giving Congress power to define, regulate, dissolve or prohibit trusts or monopolies, which came up in the House of Representatives on June 1, 1900. In favor of that amendment there were 154 votes, of which all but four were Republicans; against it were 132 votes, and all but two of these were Democrats and Populists. That, Mr. Bergen asserts, is conclusive proof that the Bryanites are not sincere in their anti-trust agitation."

For unmitigated rot, intended to deceive, this New Jersey production takes the lead. For audacious trifling with the common sense and intelligence of the American people it stands pre-eminent as far as our reading goes. He tells us that the Trusts have ceased to exist under the operation of Republican prohibitory laws but admits that there are still combinations that are as bad as the Trusts were, but that these cannot be reached by Congress without an enabling act in the shape of a constitutional amendment. Why should a constitutional amendment be necessary to curb or crush the monopolies which oppress and bleed the public now when no such amendment was necessary to enable Congress to crush the Trusts, as it is claimed was done by the Sherman law? What was the offence of the Trust? Simply that it was a combination organized for the purpose of preventing competition and thus securing a monopoly to give it control of the markets. What are these combines that Mark Hanna calls "aggregations of wealth," but which are commonly called Trusts, organganized for but to prevent competition and to get a monopoly of the markets? Where then is the substantial difference between the Trust, what according to Hanna is dead, and its successor, the "aggregation of wealth" which is very much alive and master of all the tricks the Trust ever knew?

The steel combine, for instance, which is an "aggregation of wealth" makes rails for $15 a ton and charges our railroads $26, while it ships rails to England and Ireland and Russia, and sells them for 20 per cent less than English rail makers could sell them. Could a Trust put on the extortion screws more effectually than that?

The glass combine is an "aggregation of wealth." It has run the price of glass up from 25 to 100 per cent. Could a glass Trust put on the extortion screws any more effectually than that?

The nail combine is an "aggregation of wealth." It has put up the price of nails from 50 to 100 per cent. but ships the same nails to Europe and sells them for 25 per cent. or more less them it charges home customers. Could a nail Trust put on the extortion screws any more effectually than that?

We might go on and enumerate scores of aggregations of capital which have thus levied extortionate tribute upon the public, without one single compensating offset, and yet these fellows have the gall to tell us that we ought to be satisfied because "the Trusts are dead" and the Republican party killed them, although Mr. McKinley asked Congress to do something to relieve the country from the extortions of these successors of the Trusts, Mark Hanna's "aggregations of wealth" and the House of Representatives in the last days of the session, as a political dodge, passed that fake bill providing for a constitutional amendment to enlarge the powers of Congress, which a Republican Senate pigeon-holed without doing it the courtesy of giving it serious consideration.

What thin subterfuge these fellows resort to to dodge the Trust question and humbug the people.

Some of the Republican organs think that big "hurrahs" don't mean votes. They are referring to the big Bryan meetings. Maybe not, but the Republican machine managers are spending lots of money to get up "hurrahs," all the same.

VERY QUIET.

This has been, in this State, an unusually quiet campaign for a Presidential year, especially on the Republican side. They seem to be running a sort of still hunt. The following, which we clip from the Tarboro Southerner, applies more or less to every county in the State:

"The colored people in this county are very quiet about politics. From surface indications it would appear that they are taking no interest whatever in the election. This does not, however, follow that they will not be in evidence at the election, for unless there has been a great change their leaders can get them in line in a night. For fear that political speeches to them would have a tendency to scare some of the white men who otherwise would vote for McKinley, no campaigning among them has been allowed."

Judging from appearances there will be, compared with previous elections, very few negro votes cast, but it will not do to judge from appearances, and Democrats should not be lulled into apathy by the belief that there will be few negro votes cast. Their leaders have ways of reaching them and getting them out that will ensure a pretty full vote if these leaders have any hopes of carrying the State for McKinley, and this time they profess to have, for they say that McKinley will receive many votes from men who have heretofore voted the Democratic ticket. There is a good deal of bluff in this, but there is little doubt that they are working hard, although quietly, to poll a heavy vote for their ticket and this means that as full a negro vote as possible will be polled.

For this reason every voter who would rather see Bryan in the Presidential chair than McKinley will go to the polls, cast his vote and take no chances. Better be sure than sorry. A Democratic vote not cast is half a vote for McKinley, Roosevelt and Hanna.

CAMPAIGN BUTTONS.

The Republicans had a "sound money" parade in Chicago, a few nights ago. It was not as big a thing as they calculated upon, although they hustled around considerably and spent a good deal of money upon it. Speaking of it the Chicago Chronicle says:

"The employers who gave their employes a day off with pay if they would join in the march did not understand the fact. The underdrift of the grand current was not seen on the surface.

Thousands of men in the line marching under McKinley and Hanna flags wore Bryan buttons and badges beneath the lapels of their coats. The concealed Democratic signals were exhibited quietly along every block of the parade to Democratic sympathizers on the sidewalks."

This is a petty sort of bribery, if true, and it doesn't speak any better for the men who, for a day off with pay, would consent to wear their Bryan badges under their coat lapels with a McKinley badge on the outside than it does for the employers who indulge in this kind of petty bribery. Four years ago workman employed by Republicans were threatened with loss of employment if they did not wear McKinley badges, and many then wore them as a matter of necessity.

There isn't much in the badge business, but incidents like these are humiliating because they show a disposition to tyrannize by employers and more or less surrender of manhood by workingmen. The man who permits another to dictate how he shall vote or hides his political principles lest he offend his employer by making them known is not a typical or true American.

INTIMIDATING VOTERS.

The Asheville Citizen says it is reliably informed that a large Asheville industry, employing from 75 to 100 men, has gone into the intimidation business, and started out by distributing among its workmen a small booklet telling them "What will Happen if Bryan is Elected," and that would be no end of calamities, one of which will be the closing of industrial plants and loss of employment by the workmen. It don't say that it will, in that event shut up shop, but that is the impression conveyed. Those fellows might just as well have told their workmen that if they do not vote for McKinley they may hunt jobs somewhere else after election day, for the Bryan calamity will hit them them and shut them up.

They don't think anything of the kind, but are simply playing the intimidation game that was started in the North some time ago and has been extensively played there. This is a new thing with us and it is somewhat to be regretted that the Citizen does not give the name of the establisment which is resorting to this infamous method of tyrannizing over its employes and compelling them to vote against their convictions.

— Concord Times: Another cotton mill is to be added to Concord's already large number, making the fourteenth one. Mr. B E. Harris is the prime mover in the enterprise, and he has bought a site for the factory from Mr. J. C. Wadsworth, a part of the Montgomery lands. About a one hundred thousand dollar mill will be erected, and cotton twine and other cotton goods will be made. The project is yet in embyro, but its consummation is assurred.

— Asheboro Courier: John Fields, aged about 43 years, living in the Sandy Creek section, was killed instantly on October 22d by the overturning of a wagon on the public road near the widow Brown's place, a few miles east of Level Cross. The team of mules he was driving belong to John Wheeler. —— Will Hatwood, colored, met with an accident on Friday evening that proved fatal. He was employed at Dr. Bowbow's saw mill, about two miles south of Gray's Chapel. He fell on the saw while running, his arm being sawed off near his shoulder. —— The store belonging to R. B. Two men named Sechrist and Lambeth were seen near the store about dark that night. They had been in the neighborhood some time, and it is said came from near Pilot Mountain. They came to Asheboro Saturday morning and went north on the 10 o'clock train. They gave a gentleman here a box of the cartridges they stole and traded some $12 at one of the hardware stores. They waded the Uwharrie river and burned up their clothes on this sides, and it is supposed put on new suits they stole.

— Maxton Scottish Chief: The hay crop in this section seems to be much better than was expected with such a dry season. Mowers have all been in use steadily and many more could have been used advantageously. One of our farmers told us that he would have probably one hundred acres of hay that he would not be able to cut at all before it would be ruined.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—There was an easy opening for the cotton market today at a decline of two to four points. Cables were not satisfactory, and the fact that frost was still holding off also increased the selling. The decline was extended to nine and thirteen points, after which there was a narrow and very tame market, local deals having been already pretty well evened up in anticipation of to day's brief session (one hour). The market was finally quiet at a net decline of nine and thirteen points. Taking the session as a whole, it represented the smallest market of recent times. A generally weak feeling prevailed, the favorable character of the weather accounts more than offsetting indications of small receipts. The cotton belt remains practically without frost, recent indications of a cold wave having been followed by almost spring like conditions in most cotton localities.

STORY IN FIVE WORDS.

A Tale of One of the Most Terrible of Massacres.

Probably the most startling piece of news that was ever sent out into the world was the announcement of the massacre of General Custer and his command in 1876. The terrible news was so unexpected that it came like a bolt from a clear sky. It brought a feeling of sickening horror to the heart of every man who read it or heard it on the street. It passed from lip to lip as it became known in the west and the east. There were friends and relatives of the murdered men in all parts of the nation, and the gallant commander was himself a national hero. For two days the nation waited breathlessly for information regarding the disaster additional to the brief general announcement of the calamity that had been sent out as soon as the news was known in Bismarck, N. D., which was then the extreme northwestern office of the telegraph company. That first message was a brief one; but, after all, it told the whole story.

That message was a bit of "wire talk" sent from Bismarck to Fargo on the morning of July 5, 1876, and it said, "All the Custers are killed." The message was sent by J. M. Carnahan, manager of the Western Union office in Missoula, and it was thus that the news was first sent eastward. From Fargo it was repeated to St. Paul, and St. Paul sent it, in turn, to Chicago, and from there it was passed along to cities, towns and hamlets, telling its brief but terrible story tersely, but completely. There was but a single wire east from Bismarck in those days, and government business had the first call upon this. Consequently Operator Carnahan had only time to flash forward this brief message of general information before he was compelled to begin the transmission of the official report of General Terry to the war department. For 24 hours he sat at his key clicking off this mass of official correspondence. All this time the eastern papers were clamoring for news, but it could not be given to them. So persistent were these demands for news that Mr. Carnahan obtained the permission of Colonel Smith, the member of Terry's staff who had brought in the official dispatches, to make up a short "special" from the information contained in the reports of the officers. This special was sent to the New York Herald and is believed to be the first authentic news of the Big Horn massacre that was sent out, aside from the official dispatches.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HEBREW SURNAMES.

Most of Them Date Back Only Two Hundred Years.

The family names of European Jews are of comparatively recent origin, mostly from the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and the first part of the nineteenth. When they were obliged by law to assume family names they did so either according to their traditional custom, calling themselves Abrahamson, Isaacson, Jacobson, Aaronson, Davidson, Levison or the like, or took the names of their native country, as Sachs, Schwab, Pollack, Baier, Boehm, Schweizer, Tyroler, Oestretcher, Hollaender, etc. Others, again—and these are the majority—named themselves from their native towns, such as Frankfurter, Berliner, Oppenheimer, Posner, Landauer, Fuerther, Marburg, Wetzlar, Erlanger, Bernheimer, etc.

The descendants of Aaron mostly kept up the names of Cohn, Cohen, Cowen or Katz, and the Levites maintained the name of Levi, Levy, Leyh or Brill, the last being composed of the initial letters of Ben Rabbi Jehuda Levi. Some few are translations from the Hebrew; Huebsch and Schoen from Jafeh, Wise from Chacham, Weis from Zaban, Roth from Edom. Still there are quite a number of Jewish names much older than the eighteenth century which are evidently not taken from any town or country, also among the German Polish Jews, such as Heller, Mack, Moch, Block, Bloch, etc.

Euphonious and attractive names, both from the fauna and flora of Europe, were frequently chosen. When emigrating to other countries, the bearers of these names would often translate them into the language of their new habitat. Schoenberg became Belmont, Blumbenberg changed to Montefiore, Loewenthal to Napoleon, Guthmann to Goodman, etc. The name of Saphir, the German humorist (1795 to 1858), is said to have been chosen by his father from a sapphire he was wearing in a ring and to which the official in court called attention when he was in doubt what name to select for his family.—Baltimore Sun.

There Was No Duel.

Colonel Crisp when in the Missouri legislature was one of the central figures in a scene which promised bloodshed, which ended in a hearty laugh and which was the cause of an astounding remark from Hon. John W. Farriss, the then speaker. Crisp and another belligerent son of Anak got into a debate which grew into a quarrel. They shook their fists at each other and roared like a pair of Numidian lions. Everybody expected and many hoped to see a regular old fashioned knockdown and drag out fight, which expectation and hope were frustrated and dashed to the ground by Speaker Farriss remarking:

"If you gentlemen do not quit fussing and take your seats, I will order the chaplain to take you into custody!" which so amazed the bellicose legislators that they stood in a state of lingual paralysis, while the spectators laughed till they were red in the face. Humor saved the day.—Champ Clark in Denver Republican.

Lots of Vowels.

In the Hawaiian language every word ends in a vowel. A Hawaiian finds it almost impossible to pronounce two consonants together, and in English he has the greatest difficulty in pronouncing any word ending with a consonant. Mr. Hale in his Polynesian grammar says: "In all the Polynesian dialects every syllable must terminate in a vowel, and two consonants are never heard without a vowel between them. It is chiefly to this peculiarity that the softness of these languages is to be attributed. The longest syllables have only three letters, and many syllables consist of a single vowel." Again, no syllable, as a general rule, in the Ba-ntu family of African speech can end in a consonant, but only in vowels.

The Work Cure.

"The healthy brother supported the invalid brother for years and years and years, and then the healthy brother died."

"What became of the poor invalid brother?"

"Oh, he had to get well and go to work."—New York World.

She Got the Dress.

Rather a singular case, writes our Vienna correspondent, was recently brought before a Budapest judge for decision. A young girl appealed to him concerning a blue dress upon which she had set her heart, but her father refused to buy it for her. "No intelligent girl," she declared to the judge, "when she is on the lookout for a husband would go about simply dressed."

The father declared that he had already this year incurred the expense of three toilets for his daughter and a fourth was beyond his means. Many witnesses appeared, some bearing testimony to the goodness of the father, others to the extravagance of the daughter, and the judge suggested that if the blue dress had the desired effect it might relieve the father of any further toilet responsibilities.

This idea apparently threw a new light upon the subject. The father agreed to the purchase and left the court amicably with his daughter on his arm.—London Telegraph.

A Good Use For Allen.

Congressman John M. Allen of Mississippi once went all the way to New York from the south to attend a banquet. When he took his place at the board, he found himself set down for the last speech. His friends also saw the programme and, like himself, were annoyed at what they thought was thoughtlessness on the part of the committee.

The congressman listened to the long addresses and when his turn came preficed his remarks thus:

"Gentlemen, I was somewhat at a loss at the opening of this feast to understand why you had asked me to come all the way from Mississippi to speak to you and then made my address the last number of your programme. Now it is all plain to me. You had to put a bright man at the last to hold the audience."—Saturday Evening Post.

Sympathetic.

Miss Readem—There is a world of sentiment in Tennyson's line—"And may there be no moaning at the bar when I put out to sea."

Mr. Wuddenhead—Yes, I see; didn't want the lawyer to feel bad.—Baltimore American.

Insult Added to Injury.

"That woman editor hurt my feelings terribly."

"Did she say she had thrown your poetry in her wastebasket?"

"No; she said she had thrown it in her trash basket."—Indianapolis Journal.

Not Elastic.

To a man who never can make his salary stretch from one pay day to the next a learned financial article on "The Elasticity of Our Currency" must seem bitter sarcasm.—New York Press.

INDIANA IS AROUSED.

Adlai E. Stevenson Received With an Ovation at Fort Wayne—Immense Democratic Gatherings.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

FORT WAYNE, IND., November 2.—Adlai E. Stevenson received to-day the greatest ovation ever given to any candidate in Fort Wayne, eclipsing even the Bryan reception in 1896. Mr. Stevenson was accompanied by Congressman J. W. Bailey of Texas, and Judge Wells of Canton.

This afternoon there was a parade of farmers with 2,000 men in line, half of them mounted. To-night the larg-est political parade ever seen in the city took place, Democratic marching clubs, railway and shopmen and work-ingmen generally turning out, 3,500 strong.

In the afternoon Mr. Stevenson spoke briefly from the balcony of the Wayne Hotel to 3,000 people and to-night spoke to an audience of over 5,000 people at the Princess rink. Per-haps that many more were unable to secure admission.

MILITIA ORDERED OUT

To Prevent the Threatened Lynching of a Negro in Jackson County, Ga.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, GA., November 2.—An-other company of the Georgia military was ordered from here to-night by Gov. Candler, under the command of Major Nash, of the Fifth Georgia regi-ment, with instructions that they proceed to Jefferson, in Jackson county this State, for the purpose of protecting the life of Gus Fellows, a negro who is charged with an assault on Miss Dora Hood, a prominent young lady of Harmony Grove. A mob of two hun-dred is reported there with the inten-tion of lynching the negro.

Fellows was taken from Atlanta this morning under military escort to Jefferson for trial. It was expected that one company of troops would be sufficient to protect him, and the call to-night upon the adjutant general and the Governor for more troops has caused considerable apprehen-sion as to the situation. Facts are not yet obtainable.

BRYAN DAY IN CITY OF CHICAGO.

Made Twelve Speeches at Different Points to Large and Attentive Audiences.

ONLY ONCE INTERRUPTED.

Asked "How About North Carolina?" Crowd Demanded That Questioner Be Thrown Out—But Mr. Bryan Insisted Upon Answering.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, November 2.—Mr. Wm. J. Bryan's programme in Chicago to-day comprehended twelve speeches. The crowds that greeted him were greater than those at the meetings of yesterday and last night. The candi-date began his itinerary at Handel Hall, in the down town business district, go-ing from there to the Public Library. He spoke to an outdoor gathering of workingmen. After luncheon, he made two addresses in the "Old Vienna" pa-vilion, at Sixth street and Cottage Grove avenue, one to the crowd in the building and the other to the throng which was unable to gain admittance. Here was the only semblance of dis-turbance manifested during the day. Two men in the audience asked almost simultaneously. "How about North Carolina?" and Mr. Bryan was replying, when one of the ques-tioners insisted on asking a question concerning trusts, whereupon the crowd demanded that he be thrown out and threatened to lynch him. Mr. Bryan insisted upon answering, however, but could not do so for some time, owing to the uproar made by the crowd in expressing its resentment to-ward the inquisitor. The latter was saved from violence only by police in-terference.

Mr. Bryan's night meetings were held on the north, west, southwest and south sides of the city, the closing speech being made at midnight at State and 31st streets.

Meeting at Handel Hall.

In speaking at Handel Hall under the auspices of the Single Tax Society, Mr. Bryan said:

"I complain that the producer of wealth does not enjoy a fair share of the wealth that he produces, while the man who does not produce wealth enjoys a larger part of that wealth than he has a right to. When you seek to correct these conditions, I be-lieve we are seeking to show a higher patriotism than those who are seeking to maintain present conditions and in-sisting that they must be maintained regardless of the injustice which they sanction. I am a conservative man. When I complain of injustice done, I do not ask that we shall go back and undo what has been done. I simply ask that those who have sinned shall sin no more, and those who have suf-ered shall suffer no longer. That is the conservative plan."

At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Bryan was escorted to the lake front, near the Public Library, a square from Handel Hall. In the course of his speech Mr. Bryan said:

Republicans Want a Large Army.

"We have pointed out that the Re-publican party to-day stands for a large army. No Republican speaker has appeared on any platform with authority to withdraw the President's recommendation of an army of 100,-000. But, stranger still, no Republi-can speaker, so far as I have seen, has appeared on any platform, read the recommendation of the President, de-clared it was the policy of the party and attempted to defend the policy. Therefore, I repeat, the Republican party has brought this question into the campaign and then has dropped it like a foundling left on a doorstep. The Republican party dares not de-fend the President's recommendation. What are we going to do with the 75,000 extra soldiers demanded by the Republican party? Do we need them for service outside of the United States? If so, I ask you what do you think of a policy—what do you think of a colonial system that requires three times as many soldiers to force upon 8,000,000 people a government without their consent and taxation without representation, as it does to take care of 75,000,000 people in this country, who govern themselves and levy their own taxes. If we do not want these soldiers for service outside we must want them for service in the United States. If those soldiers are to stay here, we must keep them idle or keep them busy, and nobody can defend an idle army of a hundred thousand in a country like this. And yet I would a hundred times rather that we should maintain an army of a hundred thou-sand in idleness than maintain an army of that size in this country and keep it busy. Why do we want an increase in the army for domestic pur-poses? What has happened in this country to make an increase in the army necessary for domestic purposes? Nothing has happened here but a Re-publican administration, and does a Republican administration make soldiers necessary at home? If we have prosperity on every hand do we need a large army to point out the prosperity to us with bayonets?

Want a Stronger Government.

"There are people in this country who have for years wanted a larger standing army in the United States. Those at the head of great syndicates have at times felt that we needed a stronger government and more sol-diers to support it. There is only one explanation for a large army, kept in this country, and kept busy, and that is to suppress by force the discontent among the people that ought to be cured by legislation.

"The Republican party does not give the laboring man the relief which he deserves. The laboring man wants shorter hours, relief from the black list, relief from government by injunc tion. The Republican party offers him no such relief.

"It is right that the farmer should be represented in the President's cabi-net. But it is also right that the wage-earner should be represented in the cabinet, and there is no plank in our platform that appeals more directly and forcibly to the laboring man than that plank declaring for a member of the cabinet to be chosen among the wage-earners, for that will be the means by which the laboring men will secure other remedies for their grievances.

The Question of Imperialism.

At the Old Vienna, Sixtieth street and Cottage Grove avenue, Mr. Bryan began his evening round of speaking. He said:

"I want to show you that the Re-publican party, in order to maintain its position on the question of imperial-ism, has had to amend every instru-ment, every document that we have been taught to hold sacred.

"The Republicans have so amended the Declaration of Independence as to make it read: 'We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are cre-ated equal except the Filipinos. We hold that men, except the Filipinos, are endowed with inalienable rights to some and to look after the others as those who have rights may think best. We hold this truth to be self-evident that governments derive their just powers, not from the consent of the governed, but from superior force.'

"And we would rather keep the Declaration of Independence than get the Filipino."

About North Carolina.

A voice from the audience: "How about North Carolina?"

Mr. Bryan: "The gentleman asks how about North Carolina. I was waiting for him. My friends, the Re-publicans are not meeting these issues and no Republican shows his hypoc-risy more clearly than when he talks about North Carolina. This admini-stration has provided qualifications for voting in Porto Rico, educational qualifications, and according to those qualifications, as you will find in a government document issued by this administration on the 29th day of last August, eighty-three per cent. of the black men of Porto Rico of voting age are disfranchised by this adminis-tration. Does the gentleman who spoke of North Carolina know what per centage of the people are disfran-chised there?"

Mr. Dairy, who had asked the ques-tion, replied: "Every one who does not interpret the constitution."

Mr. Bryan said: "If we had that law in the North and disfranchised every Republican who did not know how to interpret the constitution, not half of the Republicans could vote in this country."

Mr. Bryan's questioner attempted to proceed with his interrogation amid cries of "Sit down!" and "Put him out!"

Mr. Bryan tried to obtain quiet and after some confusion Mr. Dairy shouted above the noise and the con-fusion: "May I ask one question?"

Mr. Bryan answered: "My friends, while it is not fair for a Republican to come and take up my time, I will be fairer to him than he is to me. Ask your question."

The Trust Question.

Mr. Dairy said: "You say that you have known for the last four years that there are trusts in this country, and that they are in violation of the anti trust law of 1896 to prevent con-trol of market prices. Then was it not your duty as a citizen to file a complaint with the district attorney? Can you name one Democratic or Re-publican district attorney who has filed it?"

Mr. Bryan replied:

"My friends, I want to call your at-tention first to the fact that the gentle man started out in North Carolina and he got tired of North Carolina. In the second place I want to call your atten-tion to the fact that he tries now to lay upon all the people as citizens, respon-sibility for the failure of an attorney general to enforce the law that he is sworn to enforce. I want to remind you that letters have been written to Mr. Griggs, calling his attention to trusts, and that he has refused to en-force the law. And when a Democratic attorney general of Nebraska brought suit against the starch trust, the Re-publicans of Nebraska City met in the court house and appointed a circuit judge as the chairman of the commit tee on resolutions, and passed resolu tions asking the attorney general not to enforce the law of the State of Ne-braska."

Amid the applause that followed, the man who had been interrupting Mr. Bryan shouted: "How many did you file, Mr. Bryan?" But further interruptions were howled down by the impatient audience and the point-ed demands of the two police officers made his remaining in the audience contingent upon his silence. Mr. Bryan then continued:

"My friends, I am not talking for the benefit of the gentleman. He has shown that he is not here for infor-mation. He has come here to inter ject a question here, and no matter how I answer him it would make no difference in his vote. But I want to tell you this, that if I am elected I will appoint an attorney general who will not remain idle until some Re-publican comes to file a bill." Mr. Bryan then resumed the discussion of imperialism.

BANK EMBEZZLER ALVORD

Re-arrested by a U. S. Marshal and Held for Examination.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—City Magis-trate Flammer discharged Cornelius L. Alvord, the defaulting note teller of the First National Bank, from cus-tody to-day. The magistrate said he was satisfied that he had no jurisdic tion in the case. Alvord was allowed to leave the court room, but as soon as he reached the corridor he was re arrested by a United States marshal and taken before United States Com-missioner Shields. The commissioner held Alvord in $150,000 bail for ex-amination on Wednesday next. Bail was not offered and Alvord was taken to jail.

EX-MAYOR STRONG

Died Suddenly Yesterday at His Home in New York City.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—William L. Strong, the last mayor of the old city of New York, died suddenly shortly after midnight at his residence in this city. Mr. Strong took an active part in the present campaign and it is said that his political labors combined with his attempts to retain supervision over his business affairs, in the face of im-paired health, brought about the illness that resulted in his death.

IMPERIAL TOMBS SEIZED BY ALLIES

Four Chinese Officials Sentenced to Death for Outrages Upon Missionaries.

BOXER VILLAGES DESTROYED

Foreign Ministers in Pekin Continue Discussion of Peace Propositions to Be Submitted to China—Missionaries Rescued by Allies.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

PAO TING FU, Oct. 26.—The commis-sion of inquiry into the outrages on missionaries here has sentenced to death Tien Yang, the provincial judge; Wang Shung, the military command-ant, and two other officials.

German and French troops will gar-rison Pao Ting Fu for the winter.

The preparations are complete for destroying, October 27th, the most venerated temple in the city.

Discussing Peace Propositions.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Pekin, dated Oc-tober 31st, says:

The foreign ministers continued to-day the discussion of the peace propo-sitions to be presented to the Chinese. The French proposals were accepted. Additional specifications will be dis-cussed Monday. On account of the necessity for thorough accord between the different cabinets the final note will not be presented for several weeks.

Boxers Villages Destroyed.

"General Voyron, commander-in chief of the French troops in China, with the allies under his command, is purging the villages around Tien Tsin and Pekin. Many villages infested with Boxers have been destroyed and their inhabitants punished. A French column sent to Tuen rescued the mis-sionaries there. Another French column met with resistance at Siet Chung. The enemy's losses were con-siderable. The village was burned.

Imperial Tombs Seized.

"News received from Pao Ting Fu indicates a movement of French and German troops upon Si Ling, where the Imperial tombs are situated. It is rumored that the army of Yang Yu Kanteh has resolved to defend the place.

"As a result of inquiries made by the international commission under Gen. Bailloud, second in command of the French troops in China, the allies are convinced that the grand-treasurer and the governor of Pao Ting Fu, and a Chinese colonel, were instrumental in the murder of American and Eng-lish missionaries, and they have been condemned to death and will soon be executed."

A Havas Agency dispatch from Pe-kin, dated November 1st, says: "The French troops arrived at Si Ling Octo-ber 28th, and occupied the tomb of the Empress. The Germans, Italians and English arrived afterwards and occu-pied the other Imperial tombs. No fighting is mentioned."

The Imperial Harem.

BERLIN, November 2.—Official tele-grams from Count Waldersee show that all the German troops have ar-rived in China and been distributed.

A special dispatch to the Hamburg Correspondent says: "In a well, situ-ated in the imperial palace precincts in Pekin, was found the body of Em-peror Kwang Su's favorite wife, Shen Ti, whom the Empress Dowager caus-ed to be drowned before the flight of the court from the capital. The sec-ond favorite, Shing Fi, and a hundred ladies belonging to the Imperial harem are prisoners in the hands of the al-lies."

A dispatch from Pao Ting Fu, dated yesterday, says: "Telegraphic con-nection has been completed with Pekin, entirely by the Germans. The railway from Pao Ting Fu to the capital is nearly completed. French detachments are guarding the line. The health of the German troops is steadily improving."

Vital Questions to be Determined.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—It was stated to-day in quarters well versed in China affairs, that outside of the questions of indemnity, punishments, etc, now un-der negotiation at Pekin, there are three vital and far-reaching questions to be determined, viz: First, the re-moval of the Empress Dowager, per-sonally and through the influence of her advisers, from all partici-pation in the Chinese govern-ment; second, the creation of an indem-nity fund by the increase of China's customs revenue, either by the pay-ment of the duties in gold instead of depreciated silver, as at present, or else by doubling the present silver duties from five per cent. to 10 per cent. ad valorem; and, third, the establishment of a minister of foreign affairs, in place of the old and cumbersome sys-tem of the Tsung Li Yamen.

FEATHER WEIGHT CHAMPION

McGovern Defeated Joe Bernstein in the Seventh Round—Choynski and Fred Russell Fight.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 2.—Terry McGovern, the marvel of the prize ring, defeated Joe Bernstein, of New York, in the seventh round, before the Nonpareil Athletic Club and 5,000 people to night.

The feather weight championship was involved and the battle was sched-uled for twenty-five rounds, according to the Eastern interpretation of straight Marquis of Queensberry rules. The inducement was a purse of $3,500, of which the victor received $2,500. Geo. Siler was referee.

"Terrible Teddy," with all the fe-rocity and speed for which he is noted, took his time, only occasionally sail-ing into Bernstein, but when he did it was a slashing succession of blows, which appeared to be snatched from a mysterious source.

After two minutes and five seconds of the seventh round he rammed, banged and beat down his opponent. Bernstein was badly dazed and could not speak for several seconds.

Fred Russell and Choynski.

DENVER, COLO., November 2.—With blood streaming from cuts over each eye, Fred Russell, the California heavy weight, broke from a clinch as the gong sounded the close of the seventh round of his fight with Joe Choynski before the Colorado Ath-letic Association to night and put two stiff punches to Joe's body, knocking him clear through the ropes to the floor, where he remained nearly five minutes. The foul cost Russell the fight, which he probably would have won but for his inattention to the bell

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN A FAILURE.

Hon. Wm. J. Bryan Interviewed Gives Out a Statement on the General Political Situation.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, November 2.—W. J. Bryan, Democratic presidential candi-date, to-night gave out the following statement in the form of an interview:

"The Republican campaign has been a failure. The full dinner pail argument has been repudiated by the workingmen and the Republicans are compelled to confess that a large pro-portion of the labor vote will be cast for the Democratic ticket. Besides believing with the Democrats in the general doctrine of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, the laboring men are against the trusts, the large army and the colonial poli-cy. The laboring men are also drawn to the Democratic party by the fact that our party is opposed to govern-ment by injunction, to the black list and to Chinese immigration, and in favor of arbitration and a cabinet offi-cer selected to represent the wage-earners.

"The Republicans are now hoping to hold their strength among the far-mers, but they have no policy which will benefit the farmer. The man who makes his living on the farm is the victim of all the vicious legislation for which the Republican party is respon-sible, and receives none of the benefits conferred by special legislation upon corporations and syndicates.

"The farmer pays more than his share of taxes and he receives less than his share of the consideration of the gov-ernment. Republican policies have lessened the value of farm lands, in-creased the proportion of tenants, and have driven the farmers' sons away from the farm, thus intensifying the struggle for existence in the cities. The farmers are almost unanimously opposed to the trusts and they can have no sympathy with the imperialis-tic policy of the Republican party with its attendant increase in the mili-tary establishment.

"I believe that the election will show that we have gained among the farmers as well as in the cities. The small business men and the profes-sional men are also feeling the effect of the industrial despotism which has grown up with this administration. The poor are coming to the Demo-cratic party because they want a chance in the race for life, and many of the well-to-do are coming because they realize that the Democratic party affords better protection to honest wealth than the Republican party.

"The Republican party is under the control of those who seek advantage through governmental favoritism and grow rich by the exploitation of citi-zens at home and subjects abroad. It is a fight between Democracy on the one side and plutocracy on the other, and Democracy appeals to the judg-ment and to the conscience of those who are willing to let live as well as to live."

SOUTH AFRICAN SITUATION.

Activity of the Boers Continues—British Casualties Heavy—Gen. Roberts to Return to England.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, November 3.—The South African situation is improving and Lord Roberts will shortly return to England with a majority of his staff. Arrangements are being made in Cape Town to send the first batch of refugees to Johannesburg, and accommodation is being provided at Bloemfontein for a garrison of 7,000. Nevertheless, the activity of the Boers con-tinues. On the 26th of October a commando of three hundred captured a garrison of thirty men at Redders burg, but afterward released them. Trains from the south to Pretoria are attacked by the Boers almost daily. On October 24th the burghers occupied Koffyfontein.

On the other hand General Knox has inflicted a reverse on General De-Wet's forces near Parys, capturing two guns; one of them a weapon lost by the British in the Sannas Post affair.

The daily tale of British casualties is heavy. During the month of Octo-ber the British lost 167 killed in action including fifteen officers, 71 who died of their wounds, 367 who died of dis-ease, 23 who died of accidents, and 97 captured or missing; a total almost equal to the monthly average for the duration of the war.

The Daily Express publishes sensa-tional statements that the Boer revival is more serious than has been hitherto believed, that in consequence of this Lord Robert's return is likely to be still further postponed. It says also that no considerable party of troops will return before January or Febru-ary, while the regimental drafts from England will continue and 5,000 horses will be sent out.

The paper definitely declares that the Boers are well armed and abundantly supplied with ammunition, and that the campaign is likely to last another six months.

In the best informed quarters, how-ever, it is asserted that there is no ground for the pessimism of the Daily Express.

THE GOULD ESTATE.

Debts of Count Boni De Castellane to Be Paid in Full.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, November 2.—On the authority of an intimate friend of the late Jay Gould, the Evening World to-day announced that the debts of Count Boni de Castellane will be paid in full by the Goulds at once.

"The scandal attending the claims—amounting to $4,700,000—against the spendthrift husband of Countess Anna is to be stopped. A lump sum will probably be contributed by George, Helen, Howard, Edwin and Frank Gould to wipe out the debts, as they consider the honor of the Gould family is involved.

"Incidently," the Evening World article says, "it was elicited that the Gould millions have nearly doubled since Jay Gould's death and Anna's share is nearly $18,000,000 and her in-come nearer $1,000,000 than $600,000 as heretofore stated. The total value of the Gould estate is now over $125,-000,000."

The directors of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company have elected Charles M. Hays to the Presidency of the company.

Six speakers of the Socialist Labor party who insisted on talking to an enormous crowd at Seventh avenue and Avenue C, New York, last night, were arrested by police. A good deal of clubbing was done by the officers, who numbered over thirty.
